

Traditions

Belgium has more than one national identity. This is one of the reasons why it is difficult to give a general idea of the Belgian culture. Every region has its own characteristics. Generally speaking, we can divide Belgium into four major cultures. The Flemish culture, the Walloon culture, the Brussels culture and the German culture. Despite many differences, there are a lot of actions, values and norms we all have in common.